

3 Reasons Not to Retire Early... But What You'd Have to Do If You Wanted To!

The major problem with retiring early is not stopping work. Rather, it's starting something new. Too many people save enough, or receive and inheritance, and then give up their careers. Without having a social plan on top of a financial plan, though, they find themselves unfulfilled. Consider these three reasons for NOT retiring early.

- * You won't be receiving your full retirement benefits from your work pensions or from Bituach Leumi/Social Security.
- * You'll need to save more during your working years. Every year that you spend money in retirement means you're not saving from work, and not enjoying the benefits of compound interest.
- * Early retirement is physically dangerous. The National Bureau of Economic Research did a study that showed that people who retire early (as opposed to working part-time) have an increase in illness, a decrease in mobility, and a decline in mental health. You can read their paper, "The Effects of Retirement on Physical and Mental Health Outcomes," here: <http://www.nber.org/papers/w12123>

But...

If you still want to retire early, and if you've developed a plan for what you want to do, then your #1 priority now needs to be savings and investing. Build a rock solid nest egg to support you through the decades of your retirement.

Wherever you are on the path to retirement, The Goldstein on Gelt Show helps you manage your money better. Download our latest episode to

- understand the basics of personal finance (budget better, save more, avoid debt),
- learn investment strategies from the world's best investors,
- improve your retirement plan, and
- build healthy financial habits.

Every show includes a discussion with an expert on how to invest for success. Host Douglas Goldstein, CFP® uses his 25 years of experience as a financial advisor to make money concepts simple to understand. Practical lessons give you tools and tips so you can make real changes. Contact Doug at Doug@Profile-Financial.com or call +972-2-624-2788.

Due to the unpredictable nature of the investment markets, the ever-changing economic scene, and the inherent risk that an investor may lose money, there is no guarantee or assurance whatsoever that any of the ideas or strategies discussed here will be successful. We are not responsible for any loss, liability, or risk incurred as a result of applying or using any of the information on this show. Please read the complete disclaimer here.

www.GoldsteinOnGelt.com

Date of show: 02/05/2018